formed by said at least one display element onto a plane.

- 14. (New) The display apparatus according to Claim 4, further comprising a projection optical system for projecting and superimposing said images of respective colors formed by said at least one display element onto a plane.
- 15. (New) The display apparatus according to Claim 5, further comprising a projection optical system for projecting and superimposing said images of respective colors formed by said at least one display element onto a plane.
- 16. (New) The display apparatus according to Claim 6, further comprising a projection optical system for projecting and superimposing said images of respective colors formed by said at least one display element onto a plane.
- 17. (New) The display apparatus according to Claim 7, further comprising a projection optical system for projecting and superimposing said images of respective colors formed by said at least one display element onto a plane.
- 18. (New) The display apparatus according to Claim 8, further comprising a projection optical system for projecting and superimposing said images of respective colors formed by said at least one display element onto a plane.
- 19. (New) The display apparatus according to Claim 9, further comprising a projection optical system for projecting and superimposing said images of respective colors formed by said at least one display element onto a plane.
- 20. (New) The display apparatus according to Claim 10, further comprising a projection optical system for projecting and superimposing said images of respective colors formed by said at least one display element onto a plane. --

